

Maurizio (Moe) Agostino

Moe has been with Farms.com Risk Management for more than 5 years. He is primarily responsible for sales and marketing for North America and develops plans and assists clients with price exposure in the Commodity Markets. His primary areas of expertise include the feed, grain and livestock industries. Moe is an accomplished derivative trader who uses the Division's customized Price Risk Management Tools and Services to assist clients in protecting themselves from the excesses of commodity price swings. Farms.com owns 2100 acres in Port Dover, Ontario where Moe is responsible in managing and marketing the crops that are grown on the farm such as corn, soybeans and wheat.

Moe has also been actively involved in a major initiative with the Farms.com Risk Management Team to develop a simple but very useful one-stop on-line hog and crop service programs for all types of producers whether sophisticated or novice to take their marketing to the next level. The Elite, Premium and Standard service programs for livestock and grain producers were created to offer producers and agribusinesses across North America a simple and unique, but effective, source of newsletters, information, tools, unique content, research and analysis, marketing/hedging recommendations and advice on crops and livestock.

Moe is qualified as a Canadian and U.S. Commodity Broker. Moe is a Fellow of the Canadian Securities Institute (FCSI) one of highest designation that the Institute confers; he also holds a Derivatives Market Specialist (DMS) designation as well as an Honors Degree in Business Administration.